LEARN ABOUT SPONSORSHIP!

One of the most exciting aspects of this Forum is the bringing together of multiple organizations including project Owners, for-profits and nonprofits, K-12's and higher education, cities and counties and other governmental agencies, as well as architects, engineers, solution providers/vendors, and contractors to collaboratively present and discuss issues and ideas related to sustainability and resiliency, with a Texas focus.

This event is a catalyst for public and private project Owners and stakeholders to holistically gather information and momentum as we bring the resources and vision needed to achieve the goal of zero carbon emissions from the built environment, and address site planning, water, green space and the natural environment, transportation, infrastructure, leadership, economics, equity, among other topics that come naturally out of conversation and discussion.
